

Flaig, Judy

From: Harris, Jacquelynn C
Sent: Thursday, May 10, 2007 6:05 PM
To: Flaig, Judy
Subject: FW: Post article

From: Robert Sparks [mailto:rrsparks@sparksraig.com]
Sent: Monday, May 07, 2007 10:07 AM
To: Luca, Margaret K.; 'Reed, Thomas'; Harris, Jacquelynn C
Subject: RE: Post article

Yes, Maggi, I did read the article. You did a good job. I thought the article took the right tone: there was no claim by anyone that what happened changed the outcome. Even the challengers sounded high-minded. What came through was that the inside game that is Vienna Town politics looks pretty shabby in print.

For now, I do not think there is much that we need to/should say or do, other than, if forced to say something, gently letting the Vienna folks know that we're looking into it, considering various options, etc., which means we may not know what the new system will be, the old system is over. The more we do/say now, the more we create another news story.

For now, let's let it cook and see if the Vienna folks heal themselves.

Bob Sparks

Sparks & Craig, LLP
Office: 703-848-4700
Fax: 703-893-7371

From: Luca, Margaret K. [mailto:Margaret.Luca@fairfaxcounty.gov]
Sent: Monday, May 07, 2007 9:56 AM
To: Robert Sparks; Reed, Thomas; Harris, Jacquelynn C
Subject: Post article

Any reactions? Do you consider it a non story? Regina Jordan, chief, called and is upset with article. Is there any follow up you think I should do?

Maggi